Introduction

A cohesive team needs to master five behaviors: building trust, mastering conflict, achieving commitment, embracing accountability, and focusing on results. Accomplishing all of this takes more than just understanding the concepts—team members need to have a meaningful understanding of themselves and their peers.

Since the team is made up of individuals, one-on-one relationships can have a big impact on the team as a whole. This report is designed to help you better understand Kathryn and give the two of you the tools to build a more effective working relationship. All of the information is derived from the responses you and Kathryn gave on your Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team® assessments. Before you begin, take a look at the overview of the five behaviors below:

Trust One Another

When team members are genuinely transparent and honest with one another, they are able to build vulnerability-based trust.

Engage in Conflict Around Ideas

When there is trust, team members are able to engage in unfiltered, constructive debate of ideas.

Commit to Decisions

When team members are able to offer opinions and debate ideas, they will be more likely to commit to decisions.

Hold One Another Accountable

When everyone is committed to a clear plan of action, they will be more willing to hold one another accountable.

Focus on Achieving Collective Results

The ultimate goal of building greater trust, productive conflict, commitment, and accountability is one thing: the achievement of results.
